"Threefold the stride of Time, from first to last! Loitering slow, the Future creeps— Arrow-swift, the Present sweeps— And motionless forever stands the Past."

The master of the T. A. D. Jones sure gave the officers of the Volstead Cutter Seneca just what was coming to them in a good sailorly vocabulary that is a credit to the United States' merchant marine. It reminds one of T. R.'s story of the captain of the New Bedford whaler—"All I want out of you is silence, and damned little of that."

The country slickers slip over a $500,000,000 grab on the city boobies.

First the farmers, controlling votes in Congress to which they are not entitled by the simple expedient of refusing to reapportion the House of Representatives, enact a prohibition law, and while retaining their own homemade wine and cider, deprive the city man of his beer and whisky, thus cutting down the demand for the grain crops. Then he saddles on the metropolitan taxpayer the burden of enforcing the law he doesn't want and which the farmer easily evades, and tops it off by nicking him half a billion dollars as a starter, to make up the losses caused by his own fanaticism. If this isn't playing both ends against the middle we don't know the meaning of that quaint old expression.

By the terms of this bill more power is placed in the hands of Mr. Hoover than has been wielded by any President since Woodrow Wilson became a war-time Dictator. In another 50 years we can abolish Congress, if in the meantime it doesn't voluntarily abdicate.

Field Marshal Brookhart's Army of the Marshes gets a recruit. Fall in, General Frazier! Forward, hap!

Capt. Peck deplores the fact that liquor smuggling is rampant over Southeast. Maj. Pratt demands to know how come, and says up Capt. Peck, and Capt. Peck, presumably, says up his pet soldier, and one of 'em goes out and peppers a 21-year-old boy with a six-shooter, and gets held for the grand jury for it. How come?

We can't help feeling sorry for the cop who shot blindly through a smoke screen, but not as sorry for him as we would feel if some of his bullets had sent four or five innocent bystanders to the morgue, and that's a chance anybody takes when he shoots where he isn't looking.

The Senate will lay aside the farm relief bill to take up something really important—the question of who threw the beer bottle at Senator Heflin is rapidly subsiding in public curiosity the celebrated interrogatory with regard to the late lamented Billy Patterson.

Virginia never did a wiser thing than in getting her $10,000,000 good roads program under way—in a little while the profits will come rolling in.

A Treasury surplus of $100,000,000 by June 30 is reported. Well, that'll take care of one-fifth of the farm relief grab, but who will be taxed for the balance?

When it comes to bawling out Tom Heflin the women of Alabama make Brocken look like a piker. The Senate ought to adopt a resolution protesting against this outrage.

So much interest is now being shown in the beautification of Washington that it would be a pity indeed if Congress permitted the erection of a white marble cheese-box as a home for the Supreme Court—a great building balancing the Library of Congress, housing the Court and the entire law library, should be erected on a plot equal in size to the Library site, and extending from East Capitol to B street, and from First to Second. Let us do this right!

After reading the scathing denunciation of J. Thomas Heflin by the 30,000 ladies of Alabama one happily concludes that the spirit of Morgan and Pettus isn't dead down there after all. Looks like a hard winter coming.

Scientists may differ, but our theory of the Aurora Borealis is that it was invented to provide for static in anticipation of the radio.

It would require the pen of a W. Clark Russell to tell the story of these eleven sailors adrift nine days in an open boat in the Atlantic, but we are so busy recording the perils of the air that we have well-nigh forgotten the old-fashioned hardships of the sea.

CANADA TO LET SHIP'S SINKING GO TO UMPIRES

U. S. Proffers to Submit Attack on I'm Alone to Arbitration.

OBSERVERS FORESEE AWARD OF DAMAGES

Plunging of Men in Rough Sea Deplored in Notes, Made Public.

INTERNATIONAL LAW VIOLATED, IS CLAIM

Coast Guard's Data Assailed; Stimson Cites It, Seeking to Justify Action.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

Canada and the United States have agreed to submit to international arbitration the controversy which has arisen over the sinking of the Canadian schooner I'm Alone on the high seas, with loss of life, by gunfire from the American Coast Guard cutter Dexter on March 22 last.

The proposal to arbitrate came from Secretary of State Stimson and has been accepted by the government of Canada. The diplomatic correspondence in the case was made public at the State Department yesterday. It shows that the two governments were unable to agree either as to the facts or the law in the case, and the only apparent escape for the United States was to trust to the verdict of an arbitral tribunal, which is regarded as virtually certain to assess heavy damages against the American taxpayers.

The British-American Pecuniary Claims Commission, which will decide the case, after the formalities set forth in the British-American rum smuggling treaty are complied with, has already dealt with the principles of international law involved in the American and Canadian claims.

Precedent Set by 1892.

In the case of the Canadian ship Cogitator, seized back in 1892 and charged with violation of American law outside the 3-mile limit, this British-American commission, with a French jurist acting as neutral, not only assessed heavy damages against the United States, but charged the American taxpayers with 6 per cent interest on the amount, payable from 1892 when the alleged violation of international law occurred, to 1914, when the decision was rendered.

The United States stands to win nothing, or to lose whatever damages are assessed against her, no matter which way the case is decided by arbitration. The Canadian government stands to lose nothing under any circumstances and gains its point of compelling America to submit at least one phase of its prohibition enforcement laws to the jurisdiction of an international tribunal. But, under the circumstances, both governments gain by the fact that the sinking by gunfire of the Canadian ship 200 miles off shore has been handled diplomatically without arousing the resentment of the British and Canadian people.

The correspondence, which is lengthy, is featured by the note of the Canadian government which Vincent Massey, the Canadian Minister, delivered to the State Department here on April 9 and the reply made by Secretary Stimson on April 17. The Canadian government replied again on April 24 accepting the American offer to arbitrate.

Coast Guard Data Attacked.

The Canadian government offers evidence to refute the facts cited by Coast Guard officials as to the position of the I'm Alone when first ordered to heave to, but claims that even if such

COAST GUARD DENIES FIRE ON T.A.D. JONES

Lowman States Rum Chasers Have Shot At but Two Vessels in Years.

OFFICER REPORTS AFFAIR

While Seymour Lowman, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, declared yesterday that the Coast Guard had fired on only two vessels in the last few years, Coast Guard headquarters made public official reports of officers of the Coast Guard cutter Seneca concerning the boarding at sea of the cutter T. A. D. Jones.

Lowman, in his statement, pointed out that I'm Alone, the Canadian vessel sunk recently by gunfire in Gulf waters, and a small rum runner in the Niagara River were the only two vessels fired upon by the Coast Guard.

The statement, which was in answer to criticism of the Coast Guard for stopping vessels by firing signal shots, defended such action as "in accordance with international usage." He declared signal shots were fired in order to warn vessels to heave to for examination and pointed out, it's a very different matter to fire a signal shot and to fire at a ship.

Lowman said that a thorough investigation would be made of the T. A. D. Jones incident when the Seneca returns to base. He said reports indicated there was nothing unusual in the case and that collars plying between Norfolk and New England ports have been suspected in the past of transporting whisky unlawfully. He pointed out that the vessel was off her course and that there was nothing unusual about the Coast Guard's action in boarding her.

The commanding officer of the Seneca, in a letter to the acting commandant of the Coast Guard, enclosing copies of the reports of the two officers who boarded the T. A. D. Jones, declared "the whole thing is a 'tempest in a tea pot,' arising from the fact that the vessel was stopped and boarded."

The Seneca commander discredited all reports of the incident "excepting those regarding the actual fact that the vessel was stopped and boarded and the positions given."

TORNADOES HIT SOUTH; KILL 39; 33 IN GEORGIA

List of Dead May Grow, as Reports Come In From Country.

17 LIVES REPORTED LOST IN COCHRAN, GA.

Metter, Ga., Is Struck by Twister; 12 Die and Score Are Hurt.

6 IN SOUTH CAROLINA ARE VICTIMS OF WIND

Hail Adds to Severe Damage Done by Gale; Plane Is Forced Down.

Atlanta, April 25 (A.P.).—Two tornadoes that swept south Georgia and South Carolina today and tonight, dipping at intervals, caused a death list of 39, injured 200 or more persons and left property damage running into the thousands of dollars.

Striking first in Georgia, the twister wrecked scores of houses in a half-dozen towns and in rural sections, then skipped into South Carolina, striking in three places there. A second tornado tonight struck in Georgia, sending the death list of injured mounting. Of the dead 33 were in Georgia and 6 in South Carolina, as follows:

Cochran, Ga., 17 dead, more than 100 injured.

Metter, Ga. (Candler County), 12 dead, 20 or more injured.

Dexter, Ga. (Dodge County), 3 dead, 40 injured.

Rentz, Ga., one dead several injured.

Pelzer, S. C., 2 dead, an undetermined number injured.

Anderson, S. C., 4 dead, more than 20 injured, 3 probably fatally.

Several Hundred Hurt.

In addition to the dead and injured, several hundred persons in the two States were made homeless by the tornadoes that wrecked scores of dwellings in the two States. Damage to growing crops will run high.

The first twister this afternoon struck near Cochran, and apparently it was the same one that struck near Pelzer. The second tornado struck Georgia, tonight about 100 miles east of the path of the earlier one, wrecking half a dozen houses in Metter and a score or more in rural sections of Candler County, killing twelve persons and injuring more than a score of others.

Macon, Ga., April 25 (A.P.).—A tornado sweeping out of the Southwest this afternoon dipped its destructive tail in middle and south Georgia, caused a death list that, it is believed, will exceed 30, injured more than 100 persons and left property damage that will run high into the thousands.

Cochran, Rentz, Statesboro, Tifton, Sparta, Byron and lower Bibb County were struck by the storm that was followed by hail, causing added damage to crops.

Check of the extent of the damage was difficult tonight as communication lines were down and only meager reports came from the stricken area, but Cochran, where the twister struck the edge of the town, suffered the heaviest loss.

The identified dead.

The identified dead at Cochran, where seventeen were reported killed, included:

Alvin McDaniel, 15.

Infant child of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Mullis.

Eddie Williams, 55; Lella Reddick, 45, and Henrietta Williams, all negroes.

At Rentz, a child named Southland was killed.

The injured at Cochran were reported as 103, with several possibly fatally hurt, and at Rentz several were injured.

An overseer, named Bartlett, telephoned to his employer here, Jack Massey, that 17 persons had been killed in the vicinity of Cochran and that more than 100, 90 of them negroes, were injured. The tornado cut a swath half a mile wide as it swept out of the Southwest, leveling houses, trees, fences and telephone poles, leaving a path strewn with debris.

A group of farm buildings was destroyed at Rentz, among them, the house in which the Southland child was killed. In other rural sections reports told of houses, barns and trees being demolished or badly damaged by the tornado as it swept northeastward.

12 Chandler County Victims.

Metter, Ga., April 25 (A.P.).—Twelve persons, the majority of them negroes, were killed here tonight by a tornado that struck Chandler County shortly after 8 o'clock.

Sweeping down out of the Southwest, the twister struck a portion of this town, wrecking seven houses, killing Mrs. J. T. Trammell, 68, and inflicting minor injuries on four other occupants of the house.

Greatest loss of life and property was in the rural sections of the county, where eleven persons were killed and more than a score injured. The twister wrecked telephone lines to such an extent that a checkup on the extent

HOOVER FARM BILL VOTED BY HOUSE, 367-34

Democratic Opposition in Senate Collapses as Measure Passes.

ONLY MINOR CHANGES MADE IN FINAL DRAFT

Approval by Upper House After Bitter Fight Is Believed Certain.

ANOTHER REPUBLICAN WITHDRAWS SUPPORT

Frazier, of North Dakota, Joins Brookhart in Revolt Against President.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The House yesterday passed the administration farm relief bill, 367 to 34, while the Democratic opposition in the Senate disintegrated and another Republican broke over the traces.

Only two Republicans in the House voted against the bill, Stafford, of Wisconsin, and Tinkham, of Massachusetts. The other 33 were Democrats and 18 of them were from Tennessee.

There was no doubt about the issue in the House. Multiple amendments were voted down, one after another, the steady drone of conversation being broken only occasionally by a volume of noise, as the die-hards sang their woesome lament.

Democrats voting against the bill were Black, Boylan, Brunner, Carver, Carley, Corning, Cullen, Dickstein, Fitzpatrick, Griffin, Lindsay, O'Connell, Oliver, Prall, Quayle and Somers, of New York; Cannon, Missouri; Crosser, Ohio; Huddleston, Alabama; Igou, Illinois; Jones, Texas; Kunz, Illinois; Loxier, Missouri; McCormack, Massachusetts; Mooney, Ohio; Nelson, Missouri; O'Connell, Rhode Island; Palmisano, Maryland; Romjue, Missouri; Summers, Texas; Tucker, Virginia, and Cochran, Missouri.

Provision for Farm Board.

As passed, the bill provides for the creation of a Farm Board, which will be given $500,000,000 with which to assist stabilization corporations that would be set up to market various commodities. The board is given virtually unlimited authority to handle the farmers' business, about the only condition being that the initiative must be taken by him. In turn the board will be under the direct control of the President, he even having the power to name the salary of the chairman.

The only amendments that were adopted on the floor were those offered by the agriculture committee itself and they were to clarify the measure.

In the Senate it will have more trouble, but there is little doubt that in the end it will pass substantially unchanged.

Democrats Hold Caucus.

The Democrats caucused yesterday to determine what they would do about it and concluded to do nothing as a unit. A statement subsequently by Senator Robinson, the minority leader, said: "It is not contemplated that any attempt shall be made to bind the members of the conference to vote for or against particular provisions (of the bill)."

The discussion in the conference disclosed that many senators in attendance believed that the incorporation of the debenture plan will prove immediately helpful. The relation of the tariff to the subject of farm relief is recognized in view of the President's purpose to ask revision of some schedules. My personal feeling is that it is probable the farm situation will be made worse as a result of tariff legislation at this time."

"Unless the debenture or some similar plan is made possible, the result will be to increase the costs which the farmers must pay for necessary manufacturing articles."

Two Fight Courses Seen.

The result of the caucus is that some of the Democrats will attack the bill by way of the debenture plan, while others will seek to revive the equalization.

Senator Copeland, of New York, plans to reintroduce the equalization fee, but neither he nor his colleague, Senator Wagner, will support the debenture plan. At least four other Democrats are already known to be against the debenture plan and their number is likely to increase as time goes on.

The Republican break of the day, the second in two days, came with the denunciation of the pending bill by Senator Frazier, of North Dakota. He joined Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, in charging that President Hoover has gone back on his campaign promises. He declared he had come to the "conclusion that Mr. Hoover did not mean what he said."

Occupies Floor Over Hour.

Frazier occupied the floor for more than an hour sounding his parting of the ways, but his action was not as pronounced as that of Brookhart on the previous day. Brookhart ran up and

AID OF ADMINISTRATION IN BEAUTIFYING CAPITAL PLEDGED BY PRESIDENT

Jurors Fail to Indict Mrs. De King's Slayer

Deputy and Raiders Get Clean Bill; Dry Spy Faces Perjury.

Geneva, Ill., April 25 (A.P.).—The Kane County grand jury failed to vote a true bill today against Deputy Roy Smith, who shot and killed Mrs. Lillian De King in a raid on her home last month, according to reliable information.

Eugene Boyd Fairchild, dry investigator, whose false affidavit of buying liquor at the De King home resulted in the raid, was charged with perjury. The action against Fairchild was taken after some hours of debate and two days and a half of investigation. Failure of the grand jury to vote bills against Smith and other members of the raiding squad gives them a clean bill of health.

The grand jury will meet again Tuesday.

2 DEAD AS BLIZZARD BLANKETS WYOMING

Cheyenne Without Lights and Virtually Cut Off From World by Snow.

BUSINESS AT STANDSTILL

Cheyenne, Wyo., April 24 (A.P.). (By mail to Denver).—Cheyenne gave the appearance of a deserted town today as the terrific snowstorm which isolated the municipality and most of the State also disrupted business activities.

The death list in the blizzard was increased to two tonight with the report of the death of J. H. Reed, of Glendo, Wyo., who dropped dead on a highway, apparently from exhaustion and exposure. The body of George Ross, a sheepherder, had earlier been found near Thermopolis. A single Western Union wire from Cheyenne to Denver was functioning tonight.

Except for the lights and telephone companies and public service organizations, which were exerting every effort to repair damage, there was little activity in downtown Cheyenne. Stores, offices and various business houses operated, if at all, with reduced forces, as many employees found it impractical to reach their places of employment.

A few Government offices were open during the morning, but most of them closed later in the day. State offices in the capitol building closed at noon because the heating system of the building was out of order.

Few cars were able to operate on the streets because of snowdrifts. Garages were closed.

MISSISSIPPI PERILS LEVEES IN ILLINOIS

Farmers, Fearing Record Flood, Moving Families From Lowlands.

OTHER RIVERS OVERFLOW

Quincy, Ill., April 25 (A.P.).—All of the levees protecting nearby drainage districts were endangered today as additional heavy rains gorged the Mississippi's tributaries and started a rise in the parent stream which was expected to exceed all records. Hundreds of families fled to higher ground, after the weather observatory at Hannibal, Mo., announced "The Mississippi at Quincy will reach from 22 to 22.4 feet by Friday."

If the maximum predicted stage is reached it will be 3 feet higher than the crest of last Monday, which broke all records for 78 years, and will be just 1 foot less than that of the great flood of 1851. Residents of the neighboring lowlands expressed the fear that none of the levees will hold.

Farmers in the Lima Lake district, 10 miles above here, and in the Hunt district, which joins it to the north, moved today, taking along such belongings as they will need during a protracted absence, storing other household goods in second stories and attics and driving their live stock up onto the bluffs.

There are 14,000 acres in the Lima Lake tract and 16,000 in the Hunt area, with approximately 300 families living there. If the dike breaks in one of these districts, both will be flooded.

Raise in German Bank Rate Is Branded Plot in Paris

French Accuse Schacht of Taking Action to Prevent Payment of Dawes Plan Annuities; Teutons Complain of Pressure From Allied Delegations.

Paris, April 25 (N.Y.W.S.).—The Paris reparations parleys entered an even more troubled stage today with receipts here from Berlin of the news that the discount rate of the Reichsbank has been raised from 6.5 to 7.5 per cent.

This development, upon which the allied and German delegates place different interpretations, has created an atmosphere of irritation in the committee of experts and dimmed already slim hopes of an eleventh hour agreement among Germany and her creditors of the vexed problem of how much Germany is capable of paying in liquidation of her war obligations.

The French flatly accused Dr. Schacht, principal German spokesman in Paris, who is also president of the Reichsbank, of having kept down the Reichsbank discount rate to drain gold from Germany until this critical hour, and now, having raised it to make it appear that Germany can not continue to make her annual payments under the Dawes plan. In the event of the breakdown of the Paris negotiations the Dawes plan would continue in operation. The transfer clause of the plan permits Germany to defer payments if the stability of the mark is threatened.

Dr. Schacht counters with the charge that a French campaign to force Germany to accept the terms offered by the allies has been launched.

Owen D. Young, of the American delegation, chairman of the experts' committee, is reported tonight to be still straining every effort to prevent an open and final break in negotiations.

Hoover Declares District Is Symbol of U. S., in Chamber Meet.

TREASURY IS SPONSOR AND MELLON PRESIDES

Triangle Area Program of $75,000,000 Proportion Told by Smoot.

WAR AND NAVY OFFICE ARCHITECTURE SCORED

History of the Civic Growth of Washington Is Traced by Planner.

President Hoover, in his first Washington address since inauguration, last night formally pledged the support of the Administration to the elaborate city beautification program in progress, as honor guest at a gathering of Washington officialdom and distinguished visitors at the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting, sponsored by the Treasury Department as the agency delegated by Congress with the task of developing the triangle area as a center of Federal activities in line with this plan, was broadcast to the Nation over two extensive radio hook-ups.

With Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in the role of master of ceremonies, the session assembled representatives of the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the Government, together with members of the American Institute of Architects, which closed its annual convention here yesterday after giving hearty endorsement to the beautification projects.

Calls Capital Symbol of U. S.

"I am glad that the opportunity has been given to me to pledge the support of the Administration to the beautification of the Nation's Capital," President Hoover began.

"This is more than merely the making of a beautiful city. Washington is the symbol of the Nation's Capital. It is the symbol of America. By its dignity and architectural inspiration we stimulate pride in our country, we encourage that elevation of thought and character which comes from great architecture," the President continued.

"Our Government in Washington has grown greatly during the past fifteen years. We have a working force of nearly 70,000 employees, as compared with 35,000 a score of years ago."

War Delayed Program.

"War and economic recovery have delayed us in providing even our bare necessities of office space. Nearly 25,000 employees are today in rented buildings or temporary structures built during the war which were expected to last but a year or two. Many of the buildings are insanitary. Above all, the departments are divided among scores of unworkable and scattered buildings. For instance, Agriculture is housed in 46 different places in the city and the Treasury in 27 places. Commuters to the Government are paying rents and losing efficiency in sums far greater than the interest upon adequate buildings. Many of the buildings we occupy are an embarrassment to the city. We have an authorized building program for, say, 18,000 employees, yet if we would satisfy even our present need we should have new buildings to accommodate more than 30,000 Government workers."

"Congress has authorized the beginning of a great program, which must extend over many years. It is our primary duty to do more than erect offices. We must fit that program into the traditions and the symbolism of the Capital. Our forefathers had a great vision of the Capital for America, unique from its birth in its inspired conception, flexibility and wonderful beauty. No one in 150 years has been able to improve upon it."

"The founders of the republic also gave us a great tradition in architecture. In after years we have held to it

Policeman Held for Jury In Killing of Rum Runner

Rouse Released on Bond of $1,000 Pending Action of Inquiry Body.

Policeman Clyde O. Rouse, of the Eleventh Precinct, was ordered held for action of the grand jury yesterday by the coroner's jury at the inquest into the fatal shooting of 21-year-old Otis Herman Fleming, of 300 N street southwest, in a rum chase across the Anacostia Bridge early Wednesday morning.

Rouse, who was suspended from duty yesterday by Maj. Henry G. Pratt, chief of police, was ordered released under $1,000 bond by United States Attorney Leo A. Rovee.

Fleming was killed by a shot fired from Rouse's service revolver when the car, filled with liquor, which he was attempting to bring into the city, laid down a smoke screen during the pursuit by Rouse and Policeman B. R. Campbell in a police car.

Testimony at the inquest by other policemen showed that it is customary

In some periods and in others we have fallen away from it. Although it is a glorious future, I do hope to live to see this day when we shall remove from Washington the evidence of those fallen from the high standards which would have been deplored by the founders of our republic and have been deplored by the citizens of good taste ever since these transgressions.

Deplores War, Navy Building.

"Probably one of the major buildings which we regret most is the State, War and Navy Building. I have been vastly interested to find that the Congress of that day had a splendid taste, for they directed it to be the duplicate of the Treasury Building, but the administration of that day departed from the responsibility of the administration, for Congress is today, as then, giving generous authority and asking that we do our part in design and construction.

"It is the wish and the demand of the American people that our new buildings shall comport with the dignity of the Capital of America, that they shall meet modern requirements of utility, that they shall fulfill the standards of taste, that they shall be a lasting inspiration. In architecture it is the spiritual impulse that counts. These buildings should express the ideas and standards of our times, they should be the measure of our skill and children's children.

"Mr. Mellon has insisted that the great responsibility before us is not one which can be discharged by any one individual. It must be the product of the common sense of many men. Excuse me to secure for America the vast realization of the expression of our Nation. And I am confident that we have within the Nation the taste, skill and artistic sense to perform our task, for our architects have already given to America the leading place in their great art.

Says National Stage Is Here.

"It is on this national stage that the great drama of our political life has been played. Here we fought the political battles that tested the foundations of our Government. We face similar problems of our time, and here we shall henceforth come to grips with the future. For our tasks and their tasks there is need of a daily inspiration of the past, but the greatness of the future.

Secretary Mellon, in Presenting President Hoover, lauded the Chief Executive for his deep interest in the beautification of the city.

"The responsibility for the condemnation and purchase of sites and the erection of most of these buildings has been placed by Congress on the Treasury Department, and this program has become, therefore, an integral part of Treasury activities," he added. "The plan of these buildings involves a great responsibility for the proper determination of this question will largely influence the future development of the city."

Up to Treasury Department.

"The Secretary reviewed the work of Edward H. Bennett, of Chicago, consulting architect of the Treasury, and the small group of other eminent architects who evolved the plan under which the proposed buildings will be grouped and designed. He called particular attention to the model of public structures to be erected along Pennsylvania avenue, which is on exhibit at the Chamber of Commerce Building prior to becoming a permanent display at the Treasury Building.

Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, chairman of the public buildings commission, said that the "city beautiful" program has progressed to the point where Congress has authorized $15,000,000 for public buildings, with $5,000,000 for this amount to be used for actual construction and $10,000,000 for acquisition of land on which the buildings will be erected.

Tells of Property Purchases.

"Most of this latter sum will be spent in acquiring land in the so-called Triangle Area, extending along Pennsylvania avenue from Fifteenth street to the Capitol and bounded on the south side by the Mall. Senator Smoot stated, "There are 23 city blocks involved, and of this number four have been purchased, nine are now in process of condemnation, and condemnation proceedings are being carried on for six within the month. This leaves only four blocks yet to be appropriated for and it is expected that shortly after the next regular session of Congress an appropriation will be made to complete the purchase of the land in question.

"When finally completed, the Triangle Area will contain many magnificent group of buildings," he continued. "These buildings, by grouping together related governmental activities, will greatly aid to the convenience of those doing business with the Government. They will also make it possible to operate the Government more efficiently and in the end, more economically by putting an end to the large rent bill which the Government is now paying for offices to house the Departments of Justice, Labor, Commerce and others.

"All of these plans, when carried out, will add greatly to the convenience and beauty of the city. They will not involve a very great outlay each year. For the great Triangle development, it has been estimated that only $11,000,000 will be expended this year, and next year only $24,000,000.

Sees Dream Near Realization.

"The plans have been carefully made and will, I believe, meet general approval. I am a strong believer in the necessity of carrying forward this great work in an orderly and systematic manner and am confident that in so doing we will merit the thanks and approbation of future generations. For traced in detail the history of Washington as a model city in preface to a summary of the present beautification program.

Representative Richard N. Elliott, of Indiana, chairman of the House committee on public buildings and grounds, said that the plan of these buildings involves a great responsibility for the proper determination of this question will largely influence the future development of the city."

Hoover Praised as Builder.

"It is well to note that in this time of reconstruction of the National Capital we are fortunate in having a Chief Executive of the Nation a man who is a trained engineer and builder, one whose life has been devoted to the handling of large affairs," he concluded. "President Hoover, by reason of his great ability and industry, will have many constructive achievements to his credit at the end of his administration, and he will no doubt go down in history as the great builder, and the monument to his administration will be Washington, the finest capital in the world."

Milton E. Medary, of Philadelphia, Pa., member of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, in a lengthy address on "Making a Capital City," comprehensively reviewed plans and suggestions, and outlined the history of Washington in its civic development program.

"Washington should not only be the seat of the National Government, but should also invite its guests the national organizations having to do with the arts and sciences and the cultural and spiritual elements of life," Mr. Medary explained. "If the Capital is to become the cultural center of the Nation, the housing of such institutions requires the creation and maintenance of streets and utilities, fire and fire protection and many other obligations of a city government. And it would seem as if a plan could

HEFFLIN WINS DEBATE OF ALABAMA WOMEN

Resolutions, Declaring Him "Foolish and Fanatical," Are Adopted.

"SILLY BUGABOO" CITED

Birmingham, Ala., April 25 (N.Y.W.N.S.)—Resolutions denouncing Senator Thomas Hefflin as "foolish and fanatical" and repudiating him as their representative in any sense have been adopted by the Alabama Woman's League for White Supremacy, an organization with some 30,000 members.

The resolution, signed by Mabel Jones West, president of the league, follows:

"Whereas, the senior senator from Alabama, Hon. J. Thomas Hefflin, has been engaged for some months past in fomenting religious intolerance and in sowing the seeds of hatred and dissension among our people by his speeches in the Senate and elsewhere directed against the Roman Catholic Church, and State Discredited, They Say.

"Whereas, he has, in our opinion, by such a course reflected discredit upon the State of Alabama, which, unfortunately for the State, he, in part, represents in the Senate of the United States, and

"Whereas, in this respect we do not believe that he truly represents the spirit of this State,

"Now, therefore, be it resolved by the Alabama Woman's League for White Supremacy, an organization consisting of over 30,000 members, none of whose officers and few, if any, of whose members belong to or are in any way affiliated with the Roman Catholic Church:

"1. That we repudiate Senator Hefflin as our representative in any sense;

"2. That we deplore his foolish and fanatical assaults upon those of our fellow citizens who are members of the Roman Catholic Church, and assure them that the lack of patriotism and dark designs upon the liberties of the country which seem to be attributed to them by the senator, and which apparently fill him with fear and dismay, are not shared by the majority of the people of Alabama;

Apologies Are Offered

"3. That, in particular, we regard Senator Hefflin's excitement over the long-standing custom of flying the pennant of the cross at the masthead of naval vessels during the holding of divine services on such vessels as the most ridiculous of the many silly bugaboos which he has conjured up, and that we are humiliated that any representative of this State should raise an issue so absurd;

"4. That we resent Senator Hefflin's attempt to have the United States Senate as a body ally itself with the masses of bigots and fanatics carrying on against the Catholic people of the United States;

"5. That we apologize to the Senate and to the people at large that we, as a representative of this State, have exhibited himself in such a light."

Thalawar Maharajah Dies at Sea on Liner

Marseilles, France, April 25 (A.P.)—

The Maharajah of Thalawar, who had been ill for some months, died on the voyage of the steamer Rampura, from India, it was learned when the ship docked today.

Sir John Simon, president of the Indian inquiry commission, who had been in India for some months, was a passenger on the ship. He started immediately for London.

Angler's 2-Pound Carp Traps 12-Pound Salmon

Burnside, Ky., April 25 (N.Y.W.N.S.)

W. A. Williams told the season's champion fish story today.

Williams caught in Cumberland River a 2-pound carp on his trout line, strung it on his fish string and tied the string to the bank. Next morning, when he went to get the carp, he discovered that it had been swallowed by a 12-pound white salmon. No one was able to dislodge the carp the salmon was taken into camp by Williams today.

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 25 (U.P.)—

A chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution was revealed today as the complainant in the "sex book" trial of Mrs. Mary Ware Dennett, author of the book "The Sex Side of Life," which she said would go to jail before it was properly disseminated.

Federal Judge Warren B. Burrows set Monday for pronouncing sentence. Mrs. Dennett was found guilty by a jury of married men Tuesday of sending obscene matter through the mails when she posted a copy of "The Sex Side of Life" or, Advice to the Young" to an obscure purchaser in Virginia.

In opposing a motion of her counsel to set the verdict aside, Assistant United States Attorney James B. Wilkinson pointed out that the jurors had decided unanimously that the unvarnished facts and illustrations concerning the human body in Mrs. Dennett's pamphlet constituted obscenity. Wilkinson also pointed out that the jurors had found that the book was a "sex book" and a companionate marriage in elaborating his argument that Mrs. Dennett should be punished.

Morris L. Ernst, Mrs. Dennett's defender, told Judge Burrows that he thought refusal to permit the defense array of clergymen, physicians and social workers to testify had influenced the jury in returning their 42-minute verdict.

Mrs. Dennett, who is 53 years old, was accompanied by one of her sons, Carlton Dennett, 28. She said she had given him the treatise for his instruction when he was a boy of 14 and that she had never seen Mrs. Dennett's pamphlet since.

After being informed that she would be sentenced Monday under the law which provides a maximum penalty of five years in jail and a $5,000 fine, Mrs. Dennett gave out the following signed statement:

"I shall not pay any fine, no matter how small, either now or later, nor shall I allow any one to do it for me. If the few Government officials who are responsible for this prosecution wish to use the power which the law gives them to penalize me for the work I

ALIENS USE FORGERY
TO GET IN U.S., CLAIMState Department Learns of Mills That Falsify
Documents.

CHECK SYSTEM STARTED

(Associated Press.)
Wholesale and constant forgery and counterfeiting of documents to secure the admission of aliens into the United States have been brought to the attention of the State Department.The forged documents against which the department is now building a vigilance system will include American passports, passport visas, birth certificates and papers to be presented by aliens for permission to enter the United States.Forgery of American passports alone, in so far as it has come to the attention of the State Department, has doubled this year as compared with previous years. While the number of forged passports is only an extremely small percentage of the total number of 188,000 passports issued by the department, the present figures show that the trade is growing.

100 Forged Annually.

Forged American passport visas are unofficially estimated at about 100 annually. The American consular officer abroad issued 889,000 visas to foreigners desiring to enter the United States last year.Still more serious is the forgery of documents, such as birth certificates, in a country other than that in which the applicant for a visa was born.
Through the efforts of the new American consul abroad a document "forgery mill" was uncovered recently in one European country, and 70 persons were found to have been permitted to enter the United States under fraudulent papers made in the "mill."Most of the forgery of passports was said at the State Department to be done to secure the uninterrupted admission into the United States of "undesirable aliens" or prospective immigrants whose turn to come to the United States under the quota of their countries will not come for many years.

Major Trade in Far East.

The major operations of forgery are concentrated in those nations which are waiting lists for immigration into the United States are filled for many years ahead. Practically the only other section of the world where forgery of American passports is taking place is in the Far East, where they are furnished to persons desiring to claim American citizenship and who could not enter the United States under quotas.Special steps have already been taken by the department, in conjunction with the Departments of Justice and Labor, to deal with the situation. The results have been that many cases of false passports have recently been apprehended either at the port of em-barcation or at American ports.
Extensive checks, including the numbers of passports or visas issued by officials of the United States either here or abroad, is now being communicated to the proper authorities in an effort to break up the duplication practice as it now exists and to secure severe prosecution of all cases by the Department of Justice in order to discourage the trade.

Other Countries Cooperating.

All of the governments of the countries concerned are cooperating fully with the State Department in the campaign against the counterfeiters.Beyond mentioning that the worst and most frequent offenders were found in the countries whose immigration quotas are insufficient to deal with the numbers of persons who desire to enter the United States, the department officials declined to indicate by name the nations involved.Numerous instances of the counterfeiting of American currency in foreign countries also are called to the attention of the department each year. Information on this subject is forwarded immediately to the Secret Service of the Treasury Department for what action is desired.

Stop Colored U. S. Notes.

Through the cooperation of the German and Czechoslovakian foreign offices, the American Government was able to have the practice of using colored American notes printed for advertising purposes stopped in those countries.Another case of forgery called to the attention of the department recently was that of a false death certificate in Sicily, on which an insurance claim was made against an American insurance company.The entire certificate, including American consular stamps and various American municipal stamps, was counterfeited in an effort to claim the money under the insurance policy. An investigation after the State Department had examined the certificate showed claim was false and it was de-

Worthless Securities.

STATE ASKS RECEIVER

New York, April 25 (A.P.).—Fenwick
Holmes, pastor of the First Church of Divine Science of New York and exponent of "divine healing and metaphysical prosperity," was served with a summons and complaint for permanent injunction and receivership today on the charge that he used his cult to promote the sale of virtually worthless mining stock.The complaint was made by Attorney General Hamilton Ward of New York and followed upon a long investigation by his department through the bureau of securities. The papers name in addition to Holmes, his brother, William H. Holmes, William C. Carr, a stock broker, and the Fremont Grant, Inc., the mining corporation whose securities the Holmes brothers were alleged to have sold.Watson Washburn, assistant attorney general, said the purpose of this corporation was a gold mine in California which had not been worked for years and in which the shafts and tunnels were filled with water. The Holmes brothers were said by Mr. Washburn to have represented the property to be worth "at least $100,000,000."Holmes and his brother have been giving lectures in Atlantic City, San Francisco, Chicago, Boston, Buffalo,
New York and other cities. The church of which Holmes is pastor has its headquarters here and has branches in a number of cities. At each lecture, the attorney general's office charged, Fenwick Holmes introduced his brother as a "master metaphysical healer" and a wealthy and successful business man who owned large properties in California.It was charged that after the lectures the brothers would single out several prospects, generally from among the audience, for private conferences and then present the stock as a means for the "metaphysical prosperity." The attorney general charged that the purchasers were told the stock would be listed on the New York and Boston stock exchanges, but this was never done. At one time, it was charged, the cult was being used to sell the stock of the Princeton Gold Mines Co., but when the stock no longer could be sold, the Fremont Grant, Inc., was

TO HEAD CHICAGO U.Yale Law School Dean, 30, Is Youngest President of Major University.

SERVED IN WORLD WAR

Chicago, April 25 (A.P.).—Appointment of Robert Maynard Hutchins as president of the University of Chicago was announced tonight by Harold H.
Swift, president of the board of trustees.
Mr. Hutchins, who is dean of the Law School of Yale University, is the youngest president of any major American university. He was 30 years of age last January.The new president succeeds Dr. Max Mason, who resigned a year ago to become director of the division of natural sciences of the Rockefeller Foundation. He will assume office at the University of Chicago on July 1. At present Mr. Hutchins is in New Haven.
"Mr. Hutchins is a comparatively young man, but his record is one of fine accomplishments in activities required of a president who is to be a leader in such a cooperative enterprise as the University of Chicago," Mr. Swift said.
Mr. Hutchins comes of a family of educators. His father, William James Hutchins, is president of Berea College, Kentucky. His mother, Anna Laura Murch Hutchins, is a graduate of Mount Holyoke College. A younger brother, Francis S. Hutchins, 28 years old, is head of the Yale Extension School in China, and an older brother, William,
is master in the Westminster School,

PUBLISHERS RETAIN
PRESENT OFFICIALSAssociation Tables Censure of Paper Company for Buying Newspapers.

HELD WITHIN U. S. SCOPE

New York, April 25 (A.P.).—Election of officers and a refusal to adopt a resolution censuring the International Paper Co. for buying up interests in newspapers occupied the American Newspaper Association convention here today.All of the present officers were re-elected, including the four directors, whose terms expired. Edward H. Butler, of the Buffalo Evening News, is president; Harry Chandler, of the Los Angeles Times, vice president; George M.
Rogers, of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, secretary, and Howard Davis of the New York Herald-Tribune, treasurer. The five directors are J. D. Banum, Manassus Post-Standard; Hilton U. Brown, Indianapolis News; F. W. Bush, Athens
Messenger; M. C. Melig, Chicago Herald-Examiner; and Charles H. Taylor, Boston Globe.

Paper Company Assailed.

Col. Robert Ewing of the New Orleans States, launched an attack on the International Paper Co. at this morning's session and introduced a resolution condemning "any paper or power company for buying interests in newspapers." The resolution was amended to include "public utilities, banks and other outside business interests," but was tabled without a vote.It was the opinion of the publishers that the invasion of the newspaper field by newspaper companies was a matter for the Federal Government to investigate. Simultaneously with this action
the reported purchase of two Boston
newspapers by the International Paper Co.Col. Ewing declared that "any commercial concern could not be fairly both a seller and a purchaser." In his attack on the International Co., and cited instances of purchases or attempts to purchase newspaper interests by that firm.

U. S. Inquiry Are Cited.

The colonel declared he felt it his duty to warn the publishers and the public about the matter. The International Co. has transferred its newspaper activities to Canada, he asserted, and was primarily a power company in the United States. Col. Ewing called attention to the recent Federal investigations of alleged publicity campaigns on the part of the power interests and declared "it is very serious indeed when they actually buy newspaper interests."An attempt to change the time of the annual meeting of the association until the fall failed before the convention.
Additional committee reports were heard and the way was cleared for the meeting to close tomorrow morning as per schedule.The convention adopted a resolution recording sympathy for the death of William Stone, counselor of the Associated Press, and its "deep sense of gratitude for his services to journalism."

The Federal Trade Commission made public yesterday the names of four witnesses subpoenaed to testify at a hearing April 30 in connection with the reported purchase of two Boston
papers, the Herald and the Traveler, by the International Paper Co., 1929.The witnesses subpoenaed were Robert Lincoln O'Brien, former president of the Boston Publishing Co., which publishes the two newspapers, and former editor of the Boston Herald; W. N. Hur-burt, vice president of the International Paper & Power Co., of Boston; John R.
Macomber, director of the International Paper & Power Co., and James Garfield, secretary of the Boston Publishing Co.22 Injured When Train

THEORY IS SCRAPPEDDr. Washington Says Ocean Is Younger Than Indian or Atlantic Bodies.

DARWIN FATHER OF IDEA

(Associated Press.)

The theory that the moon is made of material ripped from the earth where the Pacific Ocean now lies was discarded yesterday by Dr. H. S. Washington, of the Geophysical Laboratory, before the American Geophysical Union.
Reporting on an extensive study of volcanic oceanic islands, he said the Pacific is the youngest of the earth's large bodies of water and therefore it can not follow that the moon came from this area. To support his statement that the Pacific is younger than either the Atlantic or Indian Oceans, he pointed out that the surface floor of the Pacific has not settled down to stability as it would in old age. There are numbers of volcanoes and coral reef formations which attest to the area's youth.The theory that the moon originated from the Pacific section of the earth was suggested by Darwin, who reasoned that the material had been torn away and cast into space by some gigantic force.The geologist has received widespread attention. The area covered by the Pacific would roughly hold the volume of the moon's mass. Scientists have carried the theory further by showing that the European and American continents may have been joined and merely drifted apart after the moon was formed.Dr. Washington places no credence in this theory. He has made analyses of rocks from island formations in all oceans and stated that if the moon came from the earth, it didn't come from the Pacific area.Whittemore Plans

GERMAN CHEMICALS
TO BE MADE IN U.S.New Company to Build Big Plant as Branch of Frankfort Factory.

WILL EXPLOIT WIDE FIELD

New York, April 25 (N.Y.N.S.)—A new company to make more directly available to American business, industry and agriculture the unique and varied products of the largest chemical enterprise in Germany and to combine American ingenuity and capital with Germany's research, the largest chemical enterprise in Germany, is announced today.

This company will make in America and distribute here and elsewhere such modern products of the I. G. Farbenindustrie Aktiengesellschaft, more commonly known as I. G. Farben, of Frankfurt, Germany, as synthetic gasoline, synthetic fertilizers, artificial silk, dyestuffs, solvents and lacquers.

On its board of directors will sit Walter Teagle, president of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey; Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor Co.; Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City Bank; and Paul Warburg, chairman of the International Acceptance Bank.

Organization of the company marks the first occasion in which the Ford interests have become identified with a major industry outside the motor car or airplane fields.

Arrangements are expected to be made for manufacturing here all the more important products of I. G. Farben, such as, in addition to those already mentioned, pharmaceutical products, insecticides and fungicides, light metals (aluminum), organic and inorganic chemical products, photographic films and films.

A previous contract between I. G. Farben and Standard Oil of New Jersey provided for the joint exploitation in the United States of the so-called hydrogenation of coal, which is the conversion of coal into liquid fuel, especially gasoline. A large plant is engaged in this operation in Germany, and it will probably soon be attempted here.

Formation of the American I. G. was accomplished under the banking auspices of the National City Co., which heads a banking group that tomorrow will offer a new issue of $20,000,000 guaranteed 5 1/2 per cent convertible debentures maturing May 1, 1940.

All of the common stock to be presently outstanding will be issued against cash or for the acquisition of stocks of certain American chemical companies, including substantial interests in Agrichemical Corporation and General Chemical Works.

The plants of these two companies in Linden, N. J.; Birmingham, Johnson City, Arton and Albany, N. Y., have been made available to the new company for its wide range of products and for development of new fields of chemical activity.

Mrs. Ethel McAdoo

Bride of W. W. Keith

Baltimore, April 25 (A.P.)—Mrs. Ethel McCormick McAdoo was married today to Walter Winchester Keith at the home of the bride's parents, Capt. and Mrs. Isaac E. Emerson. The ceremony was performed by the Right Rev. William Henry Francis, Archbishop of the Holy Catholic Church in America.

Mrs. Keith was the former wife of Francis Huber McAdoo, son of William Gibbs McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury in the Cabinet of President Wilson. She divorced him in Paris in 1923. Mr. Keith, socially prominent in Maryland and Virginia, also has been married previously.

day to return the indictment against Fairchild.

Further action might be taken by the investigating body at that time, although it is hardly regarded as probable.

The appearance before the grand jury yesterday of ten surprise witnesses who are believed to have testified to having purchased liquor at the home of the slain woman, led to the report that an indictment charging violation of liquor law would be returned against Joseph De King.

It was believed the lengthy debate was occasioned over this angle of this investigation.

Joseph De King admitted today that one of the jurors told him yesterday he was responsible for the death of his wife. "They said if I had not been standing with a pocket in my pocket, she would not have been shot," he declared.

The third day of the grand jury investigation started with an exciting moment. Deputy Sheriff Perry Peck, who was one of the squad which raided the De King home, reported a bullet had struck his car while he was driving at the Aurora Race Track.

The chase, conducted at a rapid speed, began on First street near the Capitol and continued on that thoroughfare to M street, thence to Fifth street, where the machine was abandoned.

Rinke reported that he noticed an automobile that "looked like a liquor car." He started in pursuit and the lead car increased its speed. Some one in the machine opened fire on Rinke, but the shot went wide.

Deputy Sheriff Walker took no part in the chase, being struck by a stray bullet. Witnesses were unable to say who fired the first shot.

State's Attorney George Carbery would not deny he had discharged his present staff of investigators, although he readily acknowledged that Fairchild was no longer on the pay roll, and said the investigators were not working now.

Three Men Injured

Chief of Police, Lawyer and Deputy Sheriff Hurt
in Battle.

Olive Hill, Ky., April 25 (A.P.)—Austin Fields, brother of former Gov. William H. Fields, and Chief of Police H. B. Carter shot and wounded each other in a pistol battle in police court here today. Deputy Sheriff Sam Walker, of Carter County, a bystander, was wounded and may die.

Fifty spectators and court attendants rushed for exits and dived under chairs as the shooting started.

Walker was shot through the body and little hope is held for his recovery. Carter was wounded in the hip and right leg.

Fields, an attorney, was in court to answer a charge of drunkenness. He was arrested last December and his case was postponed three times. This time he demanded trial. Carter asked Judge J. B. Craig for a warrant to search Fields for a concealed weapon. Fields objected and during the argument Carter approached Fields and the shooting started.

Deputy Sheriff Walker took no part in the battle, being struck by a stray bullet. Witnesses were unable to say who fired the first shot.

10, DRIFTED BOAT,
SAVED AFTER 9 DAYSEleventh Shipwrecked Man
Dies From Exposure as Yacht Draws Near.

WATER SUPPLY USED UP

New York, April 25 (U.P.)—Ten shipwrecked men, who were tossed about helplessly in the Atlantic for nine days, were safe aboard the yacht Amida tonight and on the way back to port after an almost miraculous rescue.

With them was the body of an eleventh, who was unable to live through the storms and gales of the past week. He died of exposure just as help was in sight.

The rescued men were the crew of the American schooner James E. Coburn, a four-masted vessel of 898 tons, which foundered and sank 250 miles north of Bermuda, April 17 while sailing from Baltimore for Port of Spain, Martinique. Caught in a furiously churning sea, the vessel was abandoned, the crew taking to a lifeboat at the command of Capt. Jose J. Pereira.

At first they tried rowing toward land, but they were helpless against the gigantic waves and finally gave up all efforts to save themselves, relying on their only chance lay in being sighted by a passing ship.

After drifting several days, the water supply gave out. Then W. Sargent, of Baltimore, the cook on the foundered schooner, succumbed to exposure. The yacht Amida probably rescued the ten others just in time to save them all from perishing.

The story was revealed today in radio reports from the master of the Amida, Capt. S. S. McLaughlin. The yacht, owned by Ernst R. Behrend, president of the Hammermill Paper Co., was on its maiden voyage from the Port of Spain to Baltimore, when Capt. McLaughlin sighted the drifting boat, 400 miles from the spot where the schooner Coburn went down.

The Amida will reach New York Saturday with the men, whose names as given in radio messages were: Capt. Pereira, of New Bedford, Mass.; John Richard Rice, of Baltimore; Purser Joseph J. Smith, of New Bedford; Islands; Engineer W. E. Milliken, of Raymond, Me.; Messboy Eugene Semedi, of Cape Verde; Henry Andrews and Ambrose J. Smith, of New Bedford; Manuel Silva, of New York; and Joe Delgado, of New Bedford, seamen.

RISING MISSISSIPPI
IMPERILS LEVEES

and probable damage is estimated at close to $1,000,000.

In the Gregory district of Missouri, residents had neither moved out today or were packing their effects to be ready for a forced exodus.

There are about 9,000 acres and 60 families in this plat, with a possible damage, in case of floods, of approximately $300,000.

The crest of this year's flood was touched at 21.5 feet this week, and the forecast indicates the record stage of 18.1 at 22.5 feet would be approached tomorrow as the freshets from rains up the Cedar, Skunk, Des Moines and Iowa Rivers pour into the Mississippi.

The river receded yesterday by several inches with the passing of the earlier crest and the crumbling of the dyke that guarded the valuable farm lands of the South Quincy Gardens district.

The predicted rise apparently had begun at 2:30 p. m., when the Mississippi stage at Quincy was 0.1 foot higher.

Predictions of Rise.

B. L. Waldron, in charge of the Hannibal Observatory, who made the prediction of a record stage at Quincy, said:

"The lower Des Moines will rise, overflowing the bottom lands from Ottumwa, Iowa, to Alexandria, Mo. The Mississippi will rise rapidly during 24 to 36 hours, probably reaching 22 feet to 22.4 feet by Friday or Friday night."

The rise at Quincy began this afternoon and the river had gone up about 2 foot tonight. The rate of rise is expected to increase by tomorrow morning.

The southern Illinois district, which was flooded yesterday, had a safety margin of about 3 feet, but the protecting embankments were soft from long-continued high water and a foot rise would create a serious situation there. This district is said to be the largest in the world protected by a single levee. It comprises 110,000 acres, provides for at least 600 families and is exposed to damage that might reach $3,000,000.

Already the flood which started in March from the south, and which under water, done damage of almost $1,000,000 and made nearly 1,500 persons homeless. The tons which the impending rise may bring may cause as much as $4,000,000 additional damage, rout 4,000 more people and inundate 135,000 more acres.

1927 Mark to Be Neared.

St. Louis, April 25 (A.P.)—The Mississippi River, in the reach between Hannibal and Cape Girardeau, Mo., was on a new rampage today as a result of heavy rains in Missouri and Iowa, and the United States Weather Bureau warned that it would rise at St. Louis to within 1 foot of the crest during the disastrous flood of 1927.

Governors said there would be much flooding of lowlands in the vicinity of St. Louis and along the lower Missouri in St. Louis and St. Charles Counties. A stage of 35 feet in St. Louis Sunday, 5 feet above flood stage, was forecast. This would affect railroad service and cause some flooding of industrial plants in North St. Louis.

New York, April 25 (A.P.)—Uncle Sam's newest cruiser, the Pensacola, was launched at the Brooklyn Navy Yard today.

As the war craft glided gracefully down the ways from the forest of scaffolding which has engulfed her, Mrs. Joseph L. Seligman, of Roslyn, Long Island, a native of Pensacola, broke a bottle of spring water over her bow, exclaiming, "I christen thee Pensacola."

The Pensacola, 10,000 tons, is the largest ship to be launched at the navy yard since the war. Her ultimate cost will be $11,000,000. She is 365 feet long, has a 65 1/2 foot beam and a maximum draft of 19 feet. Her oil-burning turbines and four propellers can drive her at 32 1/2 knots.

reparations payments, had taken an attitude hostile to the Germans failed today. It was also reported that the action taken by the reichsbank had followed advice from Mr. Gilbert, but this promptly was denied.

At headquarters of the German delegation it was stated this evening, "Germany is ready for a final reparations settlement if one can be worked out, but it won't agree to one under pressure."

It was added that efforts are being made to force Germany to sign or risk serious damage to the financial and economic situation of the reich.

The Germans charge that an attempt to bring pressure to bear upon Germany is behind the articles in today's Paris newspapers, accusing Dr. Schacht of manipulating the discount rate to support the stand he has taken in the reparations deliberations.

"The reichsbank," declared a statement issued by the German delegation, "reduced the discount rate from 6.5 to 7.5 per cent because it is high time to do so. If the discount rate has been kept low until the present it is because Dr. Schacht hoped that the conference might be over before it was necessary to raise it."

The rate was lowered last year because it was so high that private discount rates were far below it, and it was necessary for the reichsbank to lower its rate to remain in control. The American rate was down and the English rate also.

"The English raised their rate just before the experts' conference began, but the American rate remained unchanged. Dr. Schacht decided to let the German rate continue for the present."

"For a week now the necessity for raising the rate has been evident, though return of notes to the bank with the decrease of gold kept coverage up so that there is still 58 per cent gold coverage, which is ample. There is no danger to the mark and no maneuver such as is attributed to us by the French newspapers."

(German currency is covered by one of the strongest gold reserves in the world. The marks in circulation total between 5,000,000,000 and 6,000,000,000. By law, 40 per cent gold coverage is mandatory. The present gold reserve of the reichsbank is, in round figures, 2,500,000,000 marks.)

Color is lent to the local report that Dr. Schacht deliberately allowed the gold in Germany to decrease by what was the American rate remained unchanged. Dr. Schacht decided to let the German rate continue for the present.

"For a week now the necessity for raising the rate has been evident, though return of notes to the bank with the decrease of gold kept coverage up so that there is still 58 per cent gold coverage, which is ample. There is no danger to the mark and no maneuver such as is attributed to us by the French newspapers."

NEW BUILDING PLAN
OF DISTRICT BACKEDDougherty Supports Scheme of Simmons to Replace Municipal Structure.

VALUE OVER $5,500,000

The plan of Representative Simmons, chairman of the House District appropriations subcommittee, to make a new administration building part of the fire construction work in the development of the new municipal center yesterday won the approval of Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty.

Dougherty declared that the Simmons' plan to place the amount to the credit of the District in the United States Treasury to pay for constructing a new administration building in the proposed municipal center would hasten the development of the whole project and do so on an equitable basis.

What value Congress will recognize for the District Building is to be determined. William P. Richards, assessor, places the value of the building and land at $5,500,000. The land, he estimates, is worth more than $1,000,000, the figure he fixed in 1928. The building, which cost $2,700,000 to erect in 1907 during a period of comparatively low prices, was then valued at $3,700,000. Subsequent increment, Richards estimates, would place the value of the land and building at the $5,500,000 figure.

Apparently there is no disposition on the part of Chairman Simmons to beiggardly about the price the Federal Government should pay to the municipal government for the property, although, on the other hand, Simmons has not taken the position that his committee should make free with Federal funds in the matter.

Dougherty declared that the Simmons plan, outlined to Secretary Mellon at the Treasury Department Wednesday by Chairman Simmons, would speed up the whole municipal center project as well as advance the Federal Building program for the development of the Mall to the south of the Avenue.

The plan worked out by District officials, with a calculating eye upon finances, called for building of the courts building, across from Judiciary Square, as the first unit of the center. The administration building, that is, the building which would replace the District Building and house the directing machinery of the city government, would be constructed only after considerable delay.

This plan was decided on after a survey of the most pressing needs of the District Government for buildings and a consideration of the funds available.

JOINT FUNERAL TODAY.

Two Naval Fliers Killed in San Diego
Crash Brought Here.

A joint military funeral will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock in Arlington National Cemetery for Lieut. William K. Patterson, U. S. Navy, and Ensign Herbert Bassett, jr., U. S. Naval Reserve, who were killed last Friday in a collision between two planes at San Diego, Calif.

Capt. C. H. Dickinson, chaplain of the United States Navy, will officiate at the services, which will be held at the receiving vault. The pallbearers will be Lieut. Comdr. J. E. Ostrander, Lieut. J. Perry, T. C. Lonquest, Rutledge Irvine, R. H. Harrell, A. Soucek, H. B. Patterson, C. J. McGuire, G. S. Brown, F. MacComsey, A. R. Mead, and J. F. W. Vest.

Lieut. Patterson and Ensign Bassett were each piloting a plane in plane formation. As they attempted to land their planes collided. Two other persons lost their lives.

NAVIES AND POLITICS

OIL CONTROL BY THE STATES.

Apparently the only formidable obstacle now in the way of conserving the Nation's oil resources is the development fever which afflicts many, if not all, of the Western States. When President Hoover announced his conservation policy for Government oil lands a storm of protest was heard from the States in which those fields are located. Business and industrial organizations seem proud of the rapidly with which they are exhausting their resources. They are racing to secure the greatest possible development, even though that means wasteful overproduction and quick depletion of oil supplies. Any interference

The problem is largely one of selecting intelligent jurors who have not already formed an opinion on the issue to be adjudicated. Busy professional and business men dodge jury service, and jury boxes are too often filled with men who are glad to serve because

While the are probably more than 10,000,000 anglers, there are doubtless ten times that number who have a stake in commercial fishing by virtue of being consumers of fish. The commercial fisheries represent $100,000,000 annually and a food product of billions of pounds. Unusual accomplishments are taken for granted nowadays. A striking example of our high-gear civilization is the ease with which a dinner table in the geographical center of the United States may be supplied with a fresh halibut steak from fishing grounds in the North Pacific off Alaska, or with a fillet of haddock from the North Atlantic. Efficient transportation and refrigeration make this

BANKING FIELD SEEN
OPENING TO WOMEN

Opportunities as Promising as for Men, Asserts Miss Mina M. Bruere.

EARNINGS REPORTS FILED

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

It is no Utopian dream that the day is not remote when women will be admitted to and participate in the higher councils of great financial institutions, said Miss Mina M. Bruere, national president of the Association of Bank Women, and assistant secretary of the Central Union Trust Co., New York, speaking last night before the Bank Women's Club of Washington at the Men's City Club, on "What is Ahead for the Woman in the Field of Banking."

This is correct, she explained, because a woman entering finance today, offers her employer just what a man, similarly placed, offers.

The increasing number of banking departments organized to serve women clients, she asserted, point to recognition of their importance and promise an interesting opportunity for women in the banking field. Other sections for their employment are the personal trust departments, the personal service departments of savings banks, and even foreign banking holds greatest promise to women who have vision and growing international understanding, said Miss Bruere.

Going further, Miss Bruere said, "The control of the great instrumentality for world amity, financial credit, is still the monopoly of men. But the women of today are deeply concerned with the implications of our financial commitments in particular those of some of our European countries."

There are now more than 3,500 women in executive positions in this country's banks, she cited, and those employed in bank departments are thousands. In Worcester, Mass., and New Jersey there are women vice presidents of trust companies, and there are women bank presidents in Michigan, Illinois and Oklahoma.

But the situation is as illogical as it is encouraging, according to Miss Bruere, who reminded, "We need but go to scripture to find that since Solomon's time women have been in business, and by the same token, also in finance."

Utilities File Statements.

Four local utility concerns filed March statements of operation with the Public Utilities Commission yesterday, all showing quarterly gains compared with 1928.

While the net corporate income of Georgetown Gas Light Co. for the month, $10,459.93, was a decrease of $2,492.47, compared with March, 1928, the first quarter total of $43,827.26, represents a gain of $2,720.50 over the corresponding period a year ago.

Net income of Washington Gas Light Co., amounting to $2,103.69, was a decline of $6,104.05, compared with the same month last year. The initial quarterly total of $28,379.81, however, shows an increase of $3,974.58 for the same period of 1928.

Potomac Electric Power Co.'s net income for last month was $362,163.14, or $64,694.35 higher than March, 1928, and the quarterly total for this item, $1,038,761.12, $160,379.98 more.

That of Washington Railway & Electric Co. for last month was $36,961.54, an increase of $8,977.02 over the same month last year, and its quarterly net income, $452,582.21, was $10,255.84 in excess of the first quarter of the previous year.

Vanderbilt's Election Announced.

Election of Homer B. Vanderbilt, director of Economic Service of Harvard Economic Society, professor of business at Harvard University, economist, author and authority on money matters and business conditions, to vice presidency of Tri-Continental Corporation, was announced yesterday.

This corporation, organized under sponsorship of J. & W. Seligman & Co., is one of the largest investment corporations in the country, with resources in excess of $50,000,000. Beginning July 1, Mr. Vanderbilt will devote his entire time to the corporation's affairs, it was stated.

Briggs & Stratton Reports Earnings.

Briggs & Stratton Corporation, common stock of which is heavily owned here, reported for the three months ended March 31 net earnings after taxes of $542,745, as compared with $140,156 for the corresponding three months of 1928.

North American Co. Statement.

The consolidated income statement of the North American Co., holding Washington Railway & Electric Co. stock, and its subsidiary companies for the twelve months ended March 31, showed $28,394,284.43 for common stock after all operating expenses, interest charges, depreciation, reserves and preferred dividends. These earnings are an increase of 30.1 per cent over the period ended March 31, 1928.

trust notes of the Finance Co. of America at Baltimore, with nondetachable stock purchase warrants, dated April 1 and due April 1, 1934, at $100 and interest, yielding 6 1/2 per cent, was announced yesterday by Stein Bros. & Co., of this city, and Westheimer & Co., of Baltimore.

The Finance Co. of America, it was announced, has been in successful operation under the same management since 1919. It engages in the business usually known as commercial banking, purchasing opening accounts receivable, acceptances, drafts, notes receivable and other secured obligations from responsible jobbers and manufacturers.

New Company Is Organized.

A trading and investment company, to be known as the Graymur Corporation, has been organized by G. M. P. Murphy & Co. The corporation is to have an authorized capitalization of $75,000 shares without par value, all common stock, and has entered into contract with the Murphy Co. whereby the latter is entitled to acquire from or sell for the corporation, up to 300,000 shares on or before June 30, 1929, to yield the corporation not less than $50 a share. The corporation will commence business with at least $5,000,000 net capital.

One of the features of the formation of Graymur is the protection stockholders have against dilution of their equity, since there are no warrants to purchase additional stock nor option to purchase additional stock except above the original offering price. The Murphy Co. has the right to purchase one share for each four shares acquired or sold by it pursuant to the plan.

THE RETURN OF OLD KING BRADY

Revived by MERLE W. HERSEY.

(Copyright protected. Reproduction in whole or in part prohibited.)

THE HURRY CALL FROM DAWSON.
CHAPTER VI.
On the Trail of the Runaway Yacht.

Little Fox shows Old King Brady the hidden gold; he confides in Capt. Modier. They decide to keep quiet about it. Old King Brady is warned by Margaretta and he overhears a plot to kill him and take the gold. They trap the yacht's crew and make their escape in the launch. Harry and Klondike Kate see the yacht mysteriously steaming along with no one in sight on the deck.

LIKE most mysteries, the explanation is simple enough. After the departure of Old King Brady and Capt. Modier with old Margaretta, the multitudes in the cabin started to free themselves as best they could. It was not difficult. They soon battered down the door of the cabin compartment. From the distance Old King Brady saw the men coming swarming on deck.

"They're out," he said to Capt. Modier. "Now it will be a case of chasing us up or abandoning us altogether." To his surprise the captain did not answer. He had been down and was examining the machinery of the launch, which had suddenly assumed a most erratic motion.

"What's the pin loose here and it has broken off," he explained. "Brady, we are in the soup."

"It was bad luck with us," put in Margaretta, "and this is not the end." "What are we to do? At the rate we are drifting we shall be back by the yacht in a few minutes."

"I'll fix that," said Capt. Modier, seizing the wheel. Giving it a twist he threw the launch into an eddy. In a moment they were against the rocks. "Out with you, Brady. Catch the line I'll throw you. We must make a landing here!" the captain cried.

So Old King Brady pulled the rope over his shoulder and worked the launch along as best he could. "Now then!" exclaimed Capt. Modier. "We are safe enough if they come our way. It will take some time to get out the old pin and put in a new one. But make yourself contented, meanwhile."

"I'll take a look around here a bit." Old King Brady walked back along the rocks. When he reached a point where he could look around the island and down the river, he saw that the yacht had started upstream. There was great commotion on deck and the detective decided that something in the line of a quarrel was in progress. Joe Province and the mate seemed to be holding one end of it against the others. The argument ended, the men went to the hatch and set it away with axes. Suddenly Old King Brady saw Fergus turn her head toward shore at a point nearby.

"They intend to make a landing," thought Old King Brady. "It wouldn't surprise me to see them land the gold. They mean to look her of everything valuable and turn her adrift and get away with the gold at their leisure."

It certainly looked so. One of the men leaped ashore with a line and made the yacht fast. The others followed except Fergus, Joe Province and two of the miners. They went to work peeling boxes and cases down to the men on the rocks.

"That's their plan. If we are sharp, we may recover the Lilly yet. Those are provisions they are taking ashore. The gold will come next." Old King Brady lit a cigar and sat down on the rocks to watch. At last all the men ashore were out of sight for a moment and Fergus, taking an ax, cut the line which held the steamer fast.

Then, done, he jumped to the wheel. He gave the bell to the engineer and instantly the Yukon Lilly swung out into the stream and was heading up the river. A moment later the multitudes came dashing down toward the water's edge, waving their hands and gesticulating wildly. The two miners and Joe Province were armed with rifles now, but Fergus stuck close to his steering. Three of the shore men appeared to have rifles and they were quickly brought into action. Fergus dropped the wheel at the first shot, in an instant Joe Province went down and in a moment the two miners were down. There was no one now to be seen on board the Yukon Lilly, which under full steam flew up French River and was soon lost to sight.

Old King Brady quickly informed Capt. Modier of what he had seen and to that gentleman's delight. "Now, there is nothing to hinder us from overtaking the Lilly. Emmons is locked in the engine room and he is bound to run the Lilly into some cove. I have just got the pin in and the launch is all ready."

They started and Old King Brady kept a sharp lookout ahead. As they passed the point Old King Brady saw the yacht and what is more, several men on deck loading bags. He decided it was Capt. Dodo's band who had taken possession of her. Capt. Modier agreed with him that they had better make a landing and investigate.

"It would be mere folly for us to go in the launch. Once we have got the yacht we must make the best where the balloon started out and search for my partner and Mme. Kate."

"No go!" said Margaretta suddenly. "It was the first time she had spoken since they left the island."

"What do you mean?" demanded Old King Brady. "No danger," said Capt. Dodo. "Are you crazy?" demanded Capt. Modier. "What do you know about that?" "What I know?" piped the old woman shrilly. "See, Modier. I know. He is my son and she his wife. He helped me here—yes."

Here was a revelation indeed. They decided to land and investigate, anyway. They could see a big stairway fellow moving about the deck. Now a woman had appeared on deck and was walking about with the big man. Old King Brady saw that it was Klondike Kate. Then Harry must be safe, too. Next, he saw some one swimming away from the yacht.

Capt. Dodo was the man seen on the yacht by Old King Brady, of course. In due time Klondike Kate and Harry learned all about the mystery of the runaway yacht. They had gone aboard and their eyes met a startling sight. Fergus lay dead by the wheel. The two miners were stretched out in agony from a wound in his side. Kate rushed up to Province, who made a hurried confession with his few remaining breaths. They found Emmons and the Indian boy locked in the engine room and quickly released them. The story gaped by Province was just what they have already told, and it was substantiated by Emmons. Little Fox told of his rescue by Old King Brady and the cleared up the whole situation to Kate and Harry.

It was while listening to Little Fox that Capt. Dodo and his men appeared at the mouth of the canyon bearing on their shoulders the nail kegs, which contained the cached gold.

"Well, and there comes my beautiful husband," remarked Kate, drawing Harry aside. "What's to be done now? This is no time to stand out against him. Let us try to bring him over to our side."

"That seems to be the right thing to do, but it won't do to trust him too far."

They went down the shore to meet him. Klondike Kate explained the situation to him fully and Capt. Dodo was very affable.

"It's all right. Nothing could be better," he said. "I had expected to have to carry away all this gold in the boats which I brought up for that purpose, but your yacht is much better."

"Where are we to go? That must first be settled," said Kate, suspiciously. "Wherever you say, my dear," replied the Greek, with a southern air.

"Why not give up this business, Theodore. I'll sell out and we will be off for Europe. I think we have both had enough of the Klondike. I have, for one."

"I'll do it," he agreed, but the way in which he said it did not please Young King Brady. He felt the man was insincere.

They went aboard the Yukon Lilly then and the men followed with the kegs of gold. No sooner had they set foot on deck before Capt. Dodo showed his claws. "Am I to be master here, or are you to be mistress?" he demanded of Kate.

"The yacht is mine, but you shall command under me," snapped the gold queen.

"Very good," was the cool response. Klondike Kate stood with folded arms watching him.

Harry and Emmons turned their backs on the pair and talked in a low tone. Kate and Capt. Dodo were having a heated argument. Suddenly there came a warning shout from Little Fox. The warning came too late. Four men who had been creeping up pounced on Harry and Emmons. Resistance was useless. They were both overpowered in an instant and tied hand and foot. Capt. Dodo strode forward. Kate was right at his heels. "So, Theodore, this is the way you use my friends? I might have known."

And she looked at him with rage and hate written all over her face. "Kate, you always were a fool, and you never were a bigger one than when you thought there could be peace between us."

"What do you propose to do?" "Run to St. Michael and ship the gold. Meanwhile you are a prisoner. Try to leave the yacht and I'll kill you. Now, hand over your revolver." She drew the weapon from the folds of her dress. She would have fired it at him, but he struck her down, cutting her on the face with his fist. She drew away from him. "You have brought me to my senses. From now on you are master, and I will obey—for I am your wife, after all."

Meanwhile, the men went ashore and the work of loading the gold began. Unnoticed, the Indian boy approached Emmons and Brady and offered to cut them free if they would swim with him to the shore. This he did, and before any one had noticed they were all three in the water and had started to swim down the shore.

TRACK HOPES BRIGHTER AT CENTRAL

Interclass Meet Brings Out New Material; Brandt Prospect.

ALTHOUGH no records were broken, or outstanding performances turned in in Central High's recent interclass track meet, the caliber of the races and the showings of the athletes, most of whom are in the Central Track Team, were gratifying to Bill Foley, track coach at the Mount Pleasant school.

The meet was more or less staged to bring out the abilities of boys at Central who have not yet had a chance to really show their wares. Coach Foley was very enthusiastic over the showing.

By this meet Foley now has found many he may be able to call upon in the C Club games and the interhigh meet whom he had never given a thought to before.

C Club Games First Test For Coach Foley's Team.

These especially include Hochbaum, shotput; Brandt, javelin; Allen, distance runner as well as field event man, and Cross, a dash specialist. The work of these boys made the old coach smile.

These performers should aid Central a great deal in the C Club games and interhigh meet.

The C Club games will be the first test for Foley's team for the season. Foley plans to hold sessions daily until May 18, the date of the meet.

Nine events, not including the relay, will be on the program of the C Club games. The feature will be the 1-mile relay for the Eugene Casey Trophy.

While another star event will be the 1-mile relay for the C Club Trophy.

STALLING SWITCHED OUTFIELDERS AT BAT

Off when a southpaw took the mound for the Phils. George Stallings, "miracle man" of the 1914 Braves, was perhaps the first major league manager to go in for this sort of thing in a big way.

Throughout that hectic season Stallings carried two outfielders, neither of which was any Lewis-Speak-er-Hooper combination in action. It was unusual to carry so many gardeners in that day.

Stallings explained that he did so not only to obtain maximum hitting strength by switching according to the pitching propensities of opposing twirlers but for insurance purposes.

"Every time I look at that bunch of ragging flies out there," said Mr. Stallings, "I am afraid that before the season is over at least two or three of them will be hit on the head and killed."

RYDER CUP GOLFERS READY FOR MATCH

The competition so Horton Smith and Al Watrous, idle tomorrow, will see action the next day.

Starting at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, the 1927 Ryder Cup firm of Farrell and Turnesa will meet Charles Whitcombe and Compton, probably Britain's most formidable combination.

Farrell and Turnesa defeated Duncan and Compton, 8 up and 6 to play at Worcester, and in two rounds of foursome play today they seemed at the top of the game.

At 10:20, Leo Diegel and Al Espinosa will go out against Boomer and Duncan. Gene Sarazen and Ed Dudley start out against Abe Mitchell and Fred Robson at 10:40.

The final foursome starts from the tee at 11 o'clock with Hagen and Golden opposing Ernest Whitcombe and Cotton. Famous British amateurs will referee the Ryder matches, including Phil Perkins, the amateur champion, Dr. William Tweedell, R. H. De Montmorency, Robert Harris, Ted Blackwell, Willie Murray, Carl Bretherton, John Robinson and T. A. Torrence.

MANAGER WATERED STOCK OF GERMAN

find their holdings repudiated, as the mortgage securing them has been declared null and void. And Herr Schmeling at home in Germany is doing sums in his native language and losing weight at the prospect of receiving $100,000 for fighting Paulino, which would leave him $500,000 in debt.

If he is compelled to go through with the match under the old management, his only hope will be that the production is a flop, because if he doesn't make anything he will break no worse than even.

And the gossip on the cauliflower board of trade now has it that confidential agents of the Johnson house quietly bought up the Von Bulow shares when they reached their lowest level on black Friday.

HIT GOOD PITCHES, JOHNSON ORDERS

not figure to be a contender in the pennant race, but the team have broken even in the only two games played, with the Nats having scored one more run on less hit, while having a 2 to 2 edge.

As stated in The Post this morning, Johnson looks for better hitting from now on because of a changed plan of attack, as his batters, especially the so-called heavy hitters, will be instructed not to wait out pitchers hereafter but to hit the "grounded ones" unless the opposing pitcher is exceptionally wild and they get a jump on him in the ball and strike count right at the start.

West's Slump Gives Harris Chances in Outfield.

Manager Johnson stated this morning that he has decided to bench temporarily Outfielder Sammy West in favor of Spencer Harris. West has been given a long trial, including the entire grape fruit league season, and has not only failed to come through as a hitter, but apparently has let his batting slump worry him enough to affect his fielding.

In practice, and in the few chances he has had, Harris has done well. While he gives indications of packing a batting punch, he has been at the bat but three times this season and is batting 1,000, having doubled once, scored a mate on a sacrifice fly once and walked once.

He hit his first over 300 with Minneapolis last year, getting 32 homers, 42 doubles and 9 triples. Johnson figures he may get going and do so well that he will earn himself the regular berth. In any event, he should be a decided improvement over West in his present form.

The Nats were scheduled to board a train for Boston around bedtime tonight. Only two games will be played in the city of culture with Adolph Liska the subway hurler, listed to pitch tomorrow. This will be the first start for Liska, not counting the abbreviated 2-inning game of last Sunday when rain broke up a prospective duel between him and Danny MacFayden.

PONTIAC 'WOULD PLAY.

The Pontiacs would play Saturday and Sunday games with teams in their class. A contest for this Sunday is especially sought. Phone Manager George Chanley at Atlantic 416 between 5:30 and 6 o'clock.

MARYLAND U. IN LACROSSE TRIUMPH

Ga. Tech Bows, 14-0; Old Liners Ready for St. John's.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND Lacrosse Team tuned up for the big game with St. John's College at College Park at 2:30 tomorrow by using most of its squad in easily disposing of the much less experienced Georgia Tech Twelve on the Terrapins field yesterday, 14 to 0.

By running up this sizable score on the Southern, the Old Liners ran their total points to 61 for their five games thus far this season and became the leading scoring combination of the country. In the meantime they have held the opposition to just two goals in winning over New York University, Randolph-Macon, Cornell, Hobart and the Dixians.

Coach Faber Gives His Regulars Workout for St. John's.

Coach Jack Faber, of Maryland, used his regulars just long enough to give them a good workout for the battle with St. John's. He began making substitutions midway of the first half and practically an entire reserve team was on the field at the finish.

Meeting St. John's tomorrow, Maryland will be facing its first real test, as the Johnnies along with Navy and the Old Liners are considered the leading contenders for the national championship.

St. John's has defeated Western Maryland, Baltimore University, Army, Rutgers and Swarthmore, piling up 53 points to 12 for their opponents.

St. John's led the Marylanders in scoring again Georgia Tech with three goals, and Evans, the leading scorer of the country, added two to run his total to 22.

United Typists Oppose G. W. Nine Again Today

The United Typewriter Uniteds will meet the George Washington University Nine today on diamond No. 10 of the Monument grounds at 3:30 o'clock. The game will mark the third of the three-game series between the two teams, the Uniteds having taken both of the other two by scores of 8 to 6 and 2 to 1.

In an effort to make it a clean sweep the Uniteds will send either Gray or Ryder to the mound, with Olsen behind the bat, while the Colonials, in the hope of getting at least one victory in the series, will use Clapper or Marion on the mound.

Maryland Nines Meet Generals Here Today

Two baseball games and as many tennis matches are carded for local college athletes today.

Maryland's diamond battle with Washington and Lee at College Park occupies the spotlight, as the game will have a bearing on the Southern Conference Tristate League standings. In the other baseball contest Catholic U. will encounter Drexel Institute at Philadelphia.

While the baseball players are entertaining the Generals, Maryland's netmen will be playing host to the Swarthmore College Tennis Team. The latter contest will start at 2:30 and the ball game at 3. Georgetown and North Carolina University will meet in the other tennis match. Ed Yonemura, a Washingtonian, will play with the Tarheels. He holds the North Carolina State singles championship.

Maryland, Army Clash In 2 Sports Next Year

Maryland and Army are broadening their athletic relations, it became known yesterday from the announcement that Army next year will send its baseball and lacrosse teams here for games with the Old Liners.

At present a two-year home-and-home agreement exists between West Point and Maryland in lacrosse. The Old Line Twelve will journey to the Hudson River institution on May 11 of this year for the initial game.

Efforts will be made to stage the Maryland-Army baseball and lacrosse games on the same date next year at College Park. The baseball date already has been set for April 28, the same day on which officials of the Old Line school are planning to hold a renewal of the annual M. U. field day.

LIONELS PRACTICE.

All Lionel midget and junior players are to report at No. 5 Monument diamond today at 5 o'clock for practice. Both teams are planning to hold a renewal of the Capital City League races.

FOXALLS BOOK TWO FOES.

Foxall A. C. Tossers will play two games Sunday on the Foxall diamond beginning at 1 o'clock. The Johnny A. C. and Dick Hughes Red Birds will be met. A large crowd is expected, as the Foxalls have yet to lose a game this season.

For games, phone Manager P. V. Donovan at Cleveland 6071.

PARK ROAD NINE WILLING.

Park Road Nine want games. Teams interested phone Manager Wesley Dean at Columbia 4488.

FRIENDSHIPS BOOKED.

The Friendship A. C. will play the Brentwood Hawks Sunday on the latter's diamond at 3 o'clock. Skinner and Peterson will be the battery for the Friendship.

RICE SENIORS MEET.

The San Rice Seniors meet tonight at 343 Trueman avenue northeast at 8 o'clock. All players are requested to attend. The Rices could use one or two experienced players. Those interested are invited to the meeting.

GRACE A. C. WILLING.

The Grace A. C. Nine, newly organized, would like to arrange week-day and Sunday games with teams in the unlimited division. A game for this Sunday is especially sought. Phone Manager Williams at West 2451 between 6 and 7 o'clock.

DEL RAYS CHANGE GAMES.

The Del Ray A. C. will meet the Eastern All-Stars Sunday instead of the House Spring Nine, as was formerly scheduled. The Del Rays will drill today and tomorrow on their diamond in preparation for the fray. Games can be arranged through Manager Martin at Alexandria 1230-J.

BONDS REACT UNDER
SOARING CALL FUNDSFew Junior Rail Issues Resist Pressure: Some Foreign Loans Yield.

CONVERTIBLES SELL OFF

New York, April 25 (A.P.)—After its almost steady improvement of the last week, the bond market struck a snag today in the form of stiffening money rates. High-grade rails, industrials and utilities slipped off fractionally. A few junior rails and obligations affected by special conditions, however, managed to breast the adverse money currents.

With the usually volatile convertibles comparatively dominant, trading was listless, except in several of the rails. Sales, although more than $1,000,000 ahead of yesterday, fell below $9,000,000.

Soaring call money rates and a perceptible tightening of time money in contrast with the recent easement, heralded the month-end demand for funds. Always sensitive to the change in money rates, United States Government obligations responded to the competition of the money market with declines ranging from 4-32 to 7-32. Only the Treasury 4 1/2% 1947-52, were firm.

The raising of the discount rate by the German reichsbank caused selling of French and German bonds late in the day. French Republic 7 1/2% sold off fractionally on a turnover of 201 bonds. German Central Agricultural Bank issues, which have been weak since the reparations impasse, slipped off further to within a fraction of their low points of the year. The German Republic 7 1/2% were steady, but German industrial and municipal issues were inclined to softness.

Exceptionally active in the rails were the Atchafalpa Convertible 4 1/2%, which were unchanged on sales of 250 bonds, and Frisco 4 1/2%, the latter sold off nearly a point on profit taking after touching a new peak for the year at 89 1/2. Missouri, Kansas & Texas advertisement 3 1/2% jumped 3 points to a new high at 107.

Publication of the Wickwire Spence report showing a sharp increase in savings last year sent the Wickwire First 7 1/2% up more than 3 points to within a fraction of the year's top. The convertible 7 1/2% also were very active, 138 changing hands at fractionally higher prices. Both have been subject to much recent speculative trading.

A precipitous drop of more than 12 points placed Warner Sugar Refunding 7 1/2% at a new low, reflecting continued weakness in the sugar group.

Convertibles were caught in the backlash of the sluggish stock market. Most of them finished a little lower.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, April 25 (A.P.).—New low-price records for the 1929 wheat crop were established today by May and September deliveries. The downturn of values was simultaneous with the wheat market's complete suspension of export business in South American ports with widespread beneficial moisture throughout the greater part of domestic wheat-growing areas.

Postings quotations on wheat were heavy, due to 24 1/2¢ bid, but not to 24 1/2¢ bid. Cash wheat at 1 1/2¢ bid, not to 1 1/2¢ bid. A large part of the selling today which pulled wheat prices down resulted from liquidation of holders who were accepting tenders of wheat as means of disposing of contracts for delivery of 500,000 bushels of the May delivery of wheat here now at 1 1/2¢ bid, not to 1 1/2¢ bid, and that actual deliveries on such contracts will start about June 1, when the liquidation of sales today was not altogether unexpected.

Wheat which developed was given decided emphasis by news of rains, which sections alike and by the fact that Liverpool wheat quotations today were lower, whereas advance had been looked for. Besides, foreign selling here was in evidence, and the wheat crop of India was officially stated to be 20,000,000 bushels, or 10 per cent of last year.

Wheat to be shipped of export dealings today in wheat from North America was especially disconcerting to friends of higher prices, the bulk coming in sharp contrast with recent high takings for Europe. Under such circumstances, the wheat market was apt to have had little effect. Meanwhile heavy gave stream to assertions that the market had grown slack and market influence, with additional selling of wheat here and to the market, and that the wheat crop of India was officially stated to be 20,000,000 bushels, or 10 per cent of last year.

Provisions were somewhat easier, with hams and shoulders at 10¢ bid, not to 10¢ bid, and the market for the week ending April 25, 1929, was as follows:

SIMMONS DECLINES BUDGET CONFERENCE WITH SCHOOL BOARD

Chairman of Appropriation Subbody Calls Action "Decidedly Unwise."

PLAN ON SUBMISSIONS ALSO GETS OPPOSITION

Representative Tells Group of Willingness to Scan Other Problems.

Representative Robert G. Simmons (Republican), of Nebraska, yesterday declined an invitation to sit in with members of the Board of Education and discuss with them the school budget.

Simmons, who is chairman of the District subcommittee of the House appropriations committee, and therefore in charge of the District's appropriation bill, wrote a letter to Charles F. Carus, president of the Board of Education, in which he declared that it would be "decidedly unwise" for him to discuss school items with the board before such items are submitted to the Commissioners, the Bureau of the Budget, or Congress.

Simmons also expressed opposition to the board's suggestion that the Commissioners submit the budgetary requests of the board to the Bureau of the Budget in total and without revision, allowing the Commissioners only the recommendation as to what part of it shall be allowed and what part disallowed.

Answering the invitation of the board to sit in and discuss school appropriations, Simmons said: "I am ready to discuss at any time school matters with the school officials. I think, however, that it will be decidedly unwise for me to discuss school items with the board before such items are submitted to the Commissioners, the Bureau of the Budget, or Congress."

"The estimates and requests for funds submitted by the Board of Education are subject to revision, and deductions or additions may be made thereto by the Board of Commissioners. The same is true of the Bureau of the Budget, and after those two agencies have reviewed it, it need be revised by the Board of Commissioners. The Bureau of the Budget, under the last administration, was not to sit in with any division of the District of Columbia government when it makes up its request for funds."

Illinois Society Hears MacCracken on Aviation

William F. MacCracken, Jr., Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics, last night addressed members of the Illinois State society at their meeting in the Willard Hotel. MacCracken explained the policy of the department in the development of aviation and told of improvements in flying equipment.

MacCracken also spoke of the making of the air safe for an increasing volume of travel. Mrs. Melville Lindsey, accompanied by Mr. Lindsey, the violin and Mrs. Carl R. Chinnin at the piano; Herbert F. Aldridge accompanied by Mrs. Albert C. Reed and Lawrence E. Murray sang the Illinois society songs. Senator Charles B. Deneen presided. Following the program dancing and cards furnished entertainment.

Senator Shipstead III In Baltimore Hospital

Senator Henrik Shipstead, of Minnesota, last night was in the Church Home and Infirmary in Baltimore, suffering from a relapse of an attack of influenza which prompted him to leave Washington and enter the hospital Wednesday afternoon.

Senator Shipstead is under the care of Dr. Llewellyn F. Barker, a prominent Baltimore physician. Attendants at the infirmary reported that no diagnosis has been made in the case.

LA FOLLETTE PRAISED AT STATUE UNVEILING

Admirers and Kin Assemble in Capitol; Stand on War Entry Recalled by Son.

SENATOR BLAINE SPEAKER

The late Senator Robert M. (Fighting Bob) La Follette, of Wisconsin, took his place in America's Hall of Fame yesterday, when a five-ton statue of him was unveiled at the Capitol.

The ceremony was impressive. Gathered in the hall light of Statuary Hall were La Follette's children and grandchildren, veteran Senate progressives, like Norris, of Nebraska, who had fought by his side, and friends and admirers from all parts of the country.

The statue, showing La Follette in a characteristic crouch, stood in front of that of the one other man whom Wisconsin has similarly honored—Father Jacques Marquette, the great Jesuit humanist and explorer.

For two hours the crowded chamber rang with words of praise for the hard-fighting statesman. The first speaker was the Rev. Dr. A. Eustace Raydon, who preached the funeral oration over La Follette's body, and the last was the silver-tongued Claude A. Bowers, diminutive Democratic editor and historian.

Grandson Unveils Statue. The layards that unveiled the huge statue were pulled by little Robert La Follette, the late senator's grandson, and Marion Montana Wheeler, daughter of Senator Wheeler, progressive Democrat of Montana.

As the statue emerged from its covering, the two La Follette boys, Senator Robert M. La Follette, Jr., and Philip La Follette, gazed at it reverently and the love they bore their father showed in their eyes.

A moment later and Philip La Follette, who accepted the statue, was telling the assemblage about a prediction his father made at the time he brought the wrath of the country down on his head by voting against America joining in the World War.

War Scene Is Recalled. "If he were here today," La Follette said, speaking of his father, "I know he would think of that eleven years ago, when he, in his office in the basement of this Capitol, gathered about him was a small group of his friends. The World War was on us. Others who spoke were Edward Keating, editor of Labor; Gilbert Roe, New York attorney, who assisted La Follette in many of his investigations; Justice Charles H. Crockett, of the Wisconsin Supreme Court; Victor A. Orlander, of the Illinois Federation of Labor, and Mable Corey Costigan, of the League of Women Voters.

Mrs. La Follette, the widow, had to remain in Madison, Wis.

Praised by Senator Blaine. Senator John J. Blaine (Republican Progressive), of Wisconsin, who presided at the unveiling, said that La Follette's view that "industry exists for man, not man for industry," was "wisdom in love him."

Gas Victims Saved By Rescue Squad

Woman and Youth Found, With Jets Open, in Their Respective Homes.

Two persons found unconscious from the effects of illuminating gas were rescued by members of the Fire Department Rescue Squad early yesterday morning.

Mrs. Julia Harting, 26 years old, of 308 Bryant street northeast, the first one saved by members of the rescue squad, was found unconscious on the kitchen floor of her home shortly before 4 o'clock yesterday morning by members of her family, awakened by the odor of escaping gas. All jets on the kitchen range were found open. She was treated at Emergency Hospital after being revived by the rescue squad.

Walter Stewart, 18 years old, of 2805 Eighteenth street northwest, was found unconscious on the kitchen floor of his home half an hour later by his father, Frank Stewart. Four jets on the kitchen stove were found open. He was treated at Emergency after being given first aid treatment by the rescue squad.

Spectators in the courtroom were moved to tears by an eloquent plea by the defendant's attorney, who urged the jury to find her not guilty.

According to testimony, Acton was frustrated in an attempt to procure a license at Alexandria last August 19, and the following day applied at the local marriage license bureau. After swearing the girl was 18, he was given a license. The girl and his sister, Mrs. Ethel Taylor, waited outside the courthouse while he got the license. They then went to the Rev. Henry W. Tolson, who performed the ceremony.

The minister knew the girl was under 21, but he was told by the bride's mother that she was 18 before he married the couple.

Two days after the wedding Acton and his bride were taken in custody by police at Mrs. Taylor's residence, 455 I street southwest. The girl's mother, Mrs. Eva Kanode, complained that Acton knew the girl was under 21, but he was told by the bride's mother that she was 18 before he married the couple.

William Bowman, house detective of the Hotel Roosevelt, also asked to be adjudged a voluntary bankrupt. He declared that he had no assets. He was represented by Attorney John W. Wood.

Resulting from a raid on the recently opened Arabia Night Club, 1714 H street northwest, by Third Precinct Police, Cady, 37 years old, of the Houston Hotel, 1618 North Capitol street, was arrested by Sergeant George M. Little's squad. Police said the man's car, seized at Seventh and M streets northwest, contained 246 quarts of liquor and was under a registration card.

Four other liquor cases, one entered under the Jones liquor felony law, were filed in the court. Walter S. MacDonell, of 1618 North Capitol street, was bound over to the grand jury in $2,000 bail on a charge of transporting and selling 4305 or 100 quarts of traffic liquor. The man's car, seized at Seventh and M streets northwest, contained 246 quarts of liquor and was under a registration card.

MAN WHO MARRIED GIRL, 15, CONVICTED

Plea of "Only Decent Act" for Former Convict Fails in Perjury Case.

BLIND BRIDE IS WITNESS

Frank Acton, 28 years old, a former convict, was found guilty yesterday of perjury in obtaining a license to marry Ruth Rebecca Kanode, frail, blonde 15-year-old blind girl, by a jury before Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy.

In criminal branch of the District Supreme Court he was committed to jail to await sentence.

Spectators in the courtroom were moved to tears by an eloquent plea by the defendant's attorney, who urged the jury to find her not guilty.

According to testimony, Acton was frustrated in an attempt to procure a license at Alexandria last August 19, and the following day applied at the local marriage license bureau. PRATT SEEKS DATA ON GAMING HOUSES FOR NEW CAMPAIGN

Order to Police Captains Is Result of Parley With District Attorney.

DEMAND OF CHIEF CALLS FOR STRONGER EVIDENCE

Precinct Commanders Told to Prepare Detailed Reports on Places.

The first result of the lengthy conference held Wednesday between United States District Attorney Leo A. Rover and Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, was shown in a general order issued to the police yesterday by Pratt directing a detailed survey of gambling houses in every precinct in the city.

Pratt called for detailed reports from his precinct commanders on the places raided as gambling houses in the past, as well as a report on suspected or known places against which the police have not been able to get adequate evidence.

Substantial Evidence Sought. "The information," the police chief wrote, "is of great importance for certain contemplated action of this department with relation to violation of the gambling statutes, and precinct commanders are therefore directed to exercise great care in compiling this information, and to see that no reports are submitted which can not be substantiated by existing records or by sworn testimony."

The order issued by Pratt was interpreted as the first gun in the campaign of the police and district attorney to close every gambling establishment in the city by means of padlock injunctions.

Innocuous Charges Taboo. Soon after he took office as police chief, Pratt publicly turned thumbs down on the practice of raiding gambling establishments without adequate evidence, as well as the post office law to make arrests for gambling as nearly tantamount to conviction as possible.

Not only the names of the gamblers, but the names of the owners of the properties in which the gambling places are operated, as well as the real estate agent handling the properties, were called for by Pratt in his general order.

Woman Given Jail Term Sings Prisoner's Song

Convicted of a disorderly conduct charge, Martha Grayson, colored, was given a ten-day jail term in default of a $10 fine by Judge Isaac R. Hitt in Police Court yesterday.

The woman was taken to the prisoner's dock to await transportation to the Federal House of Detention, where she is being held in lieu of $100 bail.

Within a few moments, spectators in the courtroom roared with laughter as the woman sang the famous "Prisoner's Song" in a loud voice.

Investigation disclosed that the colored woman, undismayed by her plight, was predicting "I'll be carried to the new jail tomorrow."

Concert Will Be Given By Orchestra Tonight

A concert by the Chadwick Orchestra, Sgt. E. W. McKean, United States Army Band, conducting, will be given under auspices of the Columbia Heights Community Center in the Wilson Normal School Auditorium Saturday at 8 p. m.

The orchestra composed of 25 young people, is sponsored and accompanied by Mrs. DeWitt C. Chadwick. It will be assisted by Miss Lorraine Holida, pianist, and Miss Mary Rush, vocalist.

Miss Lorraine Holida, pianist, and Miss Mary Rush, vocalist, will act as hospitality committee.

Near East Relief Group Appeals for Bundle Day

An appeal to every woman in the District of Columbia to make Near East Relief a day, Monday, the greatest of such events was made yesterday by Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman, chairman of the woman's committee of the Near East Relief.

Many thousands of pounds of clothing are needed to meet the urgent need overseas, Mrs. Tuckerman said.

Bundle stations will be at every fire station in the District and at many of the churches. Each station will be marked with Bundle Day banners.

Women in the District are requested to bring all cast-off clothing and have the children or husband leave the bundles at the nearest station.

Police worked all day Wednesday and yesterday in an effort to find one couple willing to look at the man and either identify or exonerate him, but not a man would agree to it. Weakley, hence, started on his way back to Luray, his home.

The man was arrested after a terrific struggle by Policemen Charles Barnes, Harry H. Carroll, and Patrick J. Lovers. Barnes had parked with a woman on the road in an effort to locate the blackmailer. He saw three men crawling toward the machine and turned the wheel over to the girl, who left for assistance while Barnes attacked the men. Weakley denied that he or his companions had attempted extortion.

Capital Actress Tries To Kill Self in Jersey

Newark, N. J., April 25 (A.P.)—A woman who said she was Rose Dove, actress of Washington, D. C., swallowed two poison tablets in the Central Railroad Station tonight and collapsed while being taken to the city hospital.

She told Dr. Harry Hawkins she had attempted suicide, and it "was not because of a man."

Miss Dove formerly lived at 827 M street northeast, but has not resided there for a number of years. It was learned that her stepmother, Mrs. Mary Dove, said to be her nearest relative, resides at the address. No information concerning the young woman's act, other than that contained in news dispatches, had been received at the house.

Miss Pollitzer Speaks at Tea.

Anita Pollitzer, a vice chairman and former executive secretary of the National Theater Art Woman's Part in It, will be shown at the club May 6, when Lieut. Walter Hinton, who flew over the battle during the war, will give a prologue telling of his impressions of this wilderness.

HEAD OF DOMINICAN HOUSE, PRIOR QUILTS POST

Very Rev. Ignatius Smith Is Compelled to Retire by New Canon Law.

INFUSED REVIVED SPIRIT IN HOLY NAME SOCIETY

Director of New York Parish Succeeds Him in Priorship at University.

The Very Rev. Ignatius Smith, O. P., for six years prior of the Dominican House of Studies at Catholic University and an outstanding pulpit orator of the Catholic Church in this country, yesterday retired from the priorship of his order in Washington and was replaced by the Very Rev. Stephen McDermott, O. P., formerly rector of St. Catherine of Siena's Church, New York City.

Father Smith's retirement, which was known locally only at Catholic University last night, became necessary by a canon law of the last decade which requires that heads of religious communities may not hold office more than six years.

The retiring prior, who will remain for the present at the House of Studies as a member of the teaching faculty, has been a prominent figure in the church life of Washington for twenty years.

Studied at Brookland. His philosophical and theological studies were made at Immaculate Conception College at Brookland, and he was ordained to the priesthood by Cardinal Gibbons in 1908.

He followed post-graduate studies in sociology under the Rev. Dr. William J. Kerby at Catholic University and subsequently became regarded as an authority on the subject, being appointed to the teaching faculty of the university lecturer on sociology.

He became chiefly prominent, however, as a pulpit and platform orator. His sermons here and throughout the country drew record-breaking crowds, and cardinals and bishops sought him as a preacher of Lenten courses in their cathedrals.

Head of Holy Name Society. Ten years ago his superior appointed him national director of the Holy Name Society in this country, and his eloquence in speech and writing brought about a Nation-wide spiritual revival of that organization.

Father Smith in recent years has accepted invitations to address many national Catholic organizations and has won the regard of leaders of other denominations. He is an active member of the Knights of Columbus.

The new prior, Father McDermott, did conspicuous work in building up the Dominican House of Studies at St. Catherine of Siena in New York City and is regarded as an exceptional educator and organizer. He will assume the duties of the new office on Sunday.
